

Contents

Contributors / vii

Introduction / xiii

Part 1 The information society: fact or fiction? / 1

1 Theoretical perspectives on the information society / 3
John Feather

2 The information society: a secular view / 18
Alistair Black

3 World gone wrong? Alternative conceptions of the information society / 42
Dave Muddiman

Part 2 The information society and daily life / 61

4 Policy push, personal pull: trying to make sense of the journey towards the information society / 63
Chris Batt

5 Information literacy and the information society / 83
J. Stephen Town

6 Imaginative communities: turning information technology to expressive use in community groups / 104
Ian Beeson

CONTENTS

Part 3 The information society and policy / 129

- 7 Information policy: complexity, scope and normative structure / 131
Ian Rowlands
- 8 Knowledge management in government / 147
Margaret Haines and Paul Dunn

Part 4 The information society and the information professional / 167

- 9 Freedom versus protection: the same coin or different currencies? / 169
Graham P. Cornish
- 10 Watching what happens to information about people: data protection / 184
J. Eric Davies
- 11 Electronic publishing: what difference does it make? / 200
Claire Warwick
- 12 The role of the professional in the information society / 217
Peter Brophy

Index / 233