

THE MIDWEST BOOK REVIEW

JAMES A. COX
Editor-in-Chief
mwbookrevw@aol.com
<http://www.midwestbookreview.com>

278 Orchard Drive
Oregon WI 53575
(608) 835-7937
mbr@execpc.com

Library Bookwatch: March 2009
James A. Cox, Editor-in-Chief
Midwest Book Review
278 Orchard Drive, Oregon, WI 53575

The Library Science Shelf

M-Libraries

Gill Needham & Mohamed Ally, editor
Facet Publishing
c/o Neal-Schuman Publishers
100 William Street, Suite 2004, New York, NY 10038
9781856046480, $125.00, www.neal-schuman.com

The modern cell phone is a camera, MP3 player, personal organizer, and access to the world wide web. Libraries can be the next feature of these phones as well. "M-Libraries: Libraries on the Move to Provide Virtual Access" is a guide for library administrators to help them embrace the wide ranging mobile phone revolution as to not be left behind. Written by two scholars, one of the United Kingdom's lead thinkers on library education, and a Canadian doctor of Education, the book outlines the many possible ways today's library can join the mobile revolution. Step-by-step, each of the things a library needs to do to use the latest technologies, from converting existing resources into mobile friendly media, e-learning when it comes to cell phone technology, and building a specific digital library, "M-Libraries" is an absolute must for any library who desires to be on the cutting edge, and for community and college library science collections.