Contents

Introduction .................................................................................................................. xi

Eight ideas for successful enquiry answering ......................................................... xv

1  What do they really want? ................................................................................ 1
   How to make sure you really understand the question
   Avoiding misunderstandings .................................................................................. 2
   Asking the right questions .................................................................................... 6
   Does all this really work? .................................................................................... 10
   Agreeing the task .................................................................................................. 17
   Finding out how long you’ve got ......................................................................... 21
   Coming next – when the enquirer’s not there ................................................... 21

2  Flying blind ......................................................................................................... 23
   Why remote enquiry handling is different
   Can’t see, can’t hear – the risk of misunderstanding, even .................................. 24 offence
   Keeping your remote enquirer on side .................................................................. 28
   Keeping good records .......................................................................................... 34
   Coming next – avoiding panic, thinking on your feet ......................................... 39

3  Getting started .................................................................................................. 41
   Dealing with panic – thinking clearly
   Imagining the final answer ................................................................................... 42
   Choosing the best type of source and delivery medium .................................... 44
   Print, electronic documents, online .................................................................... 49
   Does all this really work? .................................................................................... 50
   Identifying actual sources .................................................................................... 53
   Coming next – smarter searching ........................................................................ 55
VIII  SUCCESSFUL ENQUIRY ANSWERING EVERY TIME

4 Smarter searching .................................................................57
   Tips for efficient search strategies
   Who needs to be able to search smarter? ..............................58
   Working out your search strategy .......................................59
   Searching systematically ....................................................61
   Making the most of indexes ..............................................62
   Reading strategically .........................................................69
   Making sure that what you find is reliable ......................72
   Coming next – even more things that can go wrong .............75

5 Help! Everything’s going wrong ...........................................77
   When you can’t find the answer and you’re running out of time
   Vital versus urgent tasks ..................................................78
   Your working timetable ....................................................81
   A compromise solution? ....................................................84
   Plan B ................................................................................86
   Coming next – adding value ..............................................92

6 Success! Now let’s add some value .....................................93
   Presenting your answer well is part of the job
   Quality checking your answer ...........................................94
   Presenting your answer – orally ........................................96
   Presenting your answer – in writing ................................100
   Copyright, licensing, ethics ..............................................105
   Has the answer arrived – and does the enquirer like it? ......106
   Sign-off: what can we learn from this enquiry? ..................107
   Coming next .......................................................................113

7 Setting up – how do you start? ............................................115
   Establishing your own enquiry service from scratch
   Finding out what your users need .....................................116
   Identifying the sources that will meet your users’ needs ....120
   Exploiting your sources ....................................................124
   Promoting your service ....................................................127
   Getting help and support ................................................128
   Coming last – choosing your toolkit .................................130
8 Choosing your toolkit .................................................................133

Resources that you'll need to run your enquiry service
Search engines .....................................................................................................133
Enquiry tracking software ................................................................................134
Starter Sources .....................................................................................................135
Final word of warning ........................................................................................140
Your goal: successful enquiry answering – every time .............................141

Index .....................................................................................................143