

Contents

- Acronyms and abbreviationsix

- Introductionxiii
 - The healthcare information audiencexiv
 - Information science and domain analysisxv
 - Outline of the bookxvi
 - Referencesxix
 - Further readingxix
 - Our websitexix

- 1 The healthcare information domain1
 - Introduction1
 - Nature of the discipline2
 - Nature of healthcare knowledge11
 - Structures and institutions26
 - Drivers for change31
 - Conclusion32
 - References33
 - Further reading38

- 2 History of healthcare and its information environment . .39
 - Introduction39
 - The ancient world40
 - The classical world42
 - The medieval world44

Renaissance and Enlightenment	.47
The 19th century to the present day	.55
Conclusion	.65
References	.65
Further reading	.68
3 Producers and users of healthcare information	.71
Introduction	.71
Producers of healthcare information	.71
Users of healthcare information	.73
Conclusions	.89
References	.90
Further reading	.94
4 Healthcare information organization	.95
Introduction	.95
Organizing healthcare information: overview	.96
Dictionaries and glossaries	.98
Classifications and taxonomies	.99
Subject headings and thesauri	.112
Meta-vocabularies	.120
Abstracting and indexing of healthcare information	.121
Conclusion	.125
References	.126
Further reading	.131
5 Healthcare information sources, services and retrieval	133
Introduction	.133
Primary sources	.135
Secondary sources	.153
Tertiary sources	.165
Quaternary sources	.171
Conclusion	.172
References	.176
Further reading	.183
6 Healthcare Information and knowledge management	.185
Introduction	.185
Healthcare libraries and information services	.186
Managing healthcare information	.191

Providing healthcare information	200
Standards, evaluation and impact	207
Conclusion	213
References	214
Further reading	225
Afterword	227
Keeping up to date	228
Index	231