Contents

Foreword Sue Hill vii

1 Scene setting: the challenges of today’s employment market 1
   Introduction 1
   Employment patterns – no more ‘jobs for life’? 3
   The effect of official policies 5
   New focus in subject work 6
   New areas of professional work 8
   Working in another country 9
   The need for continuing professional development 12
   New skills for new roles 13

2 Your master career plan, or, Do you have to kiss a lot of frogs to find a prince or princess? 17
   Job for life or portfolio career? 18
   Risk assessment for jobs 20
   Is there a better job for you? 21
   Getting help 21
   So what types of jobs are available? 22
   Joining associated groups 31
   Taking a worldwide approach 31
3 Starting your career

- ‘Conventional’ library and information work
- New areas of work for library and information professionals
- Research the marketplace
- What are and where are the jobs?
- The professional bodies
- Where do I find out about available jobs?
- The generalist
- Experience: how long is long enough?
- Work patterns
- Mentoring
- Deciding what is right for you

4 Applying for a job

- How to read a job advertisement
- Whether to apply for a post
- Do your homework
- How to apply for a post
- Matching the employer’s requirements
- Your CV
- Applying ‘cold’ for a job
- Spoilt for choice?
- Working in Europe case study revisited

5 Next steps in your career, including promotion plans

- Getting promoted and developing a job promotion plan
- Going for another job in your own organization
- Going for promotion in your own organization
- Going for a similar job with another employer
- Going for a better job with another employer
- Demonstrating your value to a future employer
- Referees
Trends in pay 138
Watching the media for jobs advertised 140
Have you thought about being a serial temp worker? 141
What other benefits does a package offer? 143
What lies over the fence? 143
Returning to work after a break 143
Flexibility 145
Where do you want to be in three, five or even ten years' time? 146
Have you got the work–life balance right? 147
Now it's your decision 149

10 Career case studies 151
Pat Gallaher, Australia 152
Irja Laamanen, Finland 156
Information Specialist, USA 160
Jan Parry, UK 162

Appendix 1
Typical questions on an application form 167

Appendix 2
A possible CV for a library or information professional 172

Further reading, websites and organizations 175

Index 197